Dear Mr. Hall:

This letter is to acknowledge your contribution to the development of the atomic bomb. The striking success of this project was only made possible by the work and sacrifices of the Military Personnel. In January 1944 you joined the project as a civilian, were transferred to the Special Engineer Detachment in December 1944. I wish to thank you for the work that you have done during all this time.

According to your Group Leader, you are to be especially commended for work done as a scientific assistant. You have participated in the construction and the testing of special detecting equipment and you have been responsible for carrying out a number of difficult and delicate measurements in the field of nuclear physics. You have performed your work with great intelligence and care. You have given proof of a sound scientific background of experimental ability, and of keen interest in scientific research.

You are urged to present this letter as a reference.

Very truly yours,

J. Robert Oppenheimer
